Mushroom vendor stabbed during robbery

A 24-year-old man is in a serious but stable condition after he was repeatedly stabbed and assaulted during a robbery on Eastury Drive in Phoenix on Tuesday.

The victim was a resident of Choppers Town in Mt Moreland and was selling mushrooms in Phoenix when he decided to visit his mother who lives in the area. Shortly after leaving her residence, he was accosted by six men while walking on the Phoenix Highway. Without warning, a suspect drew a knife and started stabbing him while the remaining men began assaulting him. During the attack, the victim was robbed of R2, 000 in cash and his Samsung cellphone. The suspects then fled the scene on foot. The victim sought assistance from employees of a panel beating business that is being run from a home on Eastbury Drive.

The man was bleeding extensively from wounds to his face, back and chest. He was treated on scene by medics from a local security company who were called to the scene by an employee of the panel beating business, chest and back. Metro police on scene and security forces conducted an extensive search of the area, however, no arrests have been made. The suspects still remain at large.

Kajol Sewgobind - flawless from within

Offering women the confidence and self-esteem to feel beautiful and radiant in their own make-up free skin is the mission of local actress and model, Kajol Sewgobind (pictured), who is now the proud ambassador of Bollywood Light- a natural and holistic skincare product. The former Chatsworth beauty, who rose to fame after modelling for popular lifestyle magazine, FHM and starring in The Curse of Highway Sheila and more recently, 'Broken Promises 4Ever' where she bagged the lead role of Skyler, believes that every woman should be her own skincare expert. Being the ambassador of the international product which was recently launched in South Africa has provided her with the freedom of not having to wear foundation and make-up while working on the set of Broken Promises 4Ever. "When a person feels beautiful, it impacts greatly on every part of their life. You only have one body and you have the responsibility to take care of it," she explained. Sewgobind explained that Bollywood Light gives you glowing, natural, even toned skin that in turn results in confidence without having to hide behind a mask. The actress discovered the product two years ago while on a trip to India and describes it as the best kept secret of Bollywood stars.

"The product can be used on all skin types,

Disgruntled husband assaulted by civilians

A 29-year-old man was allegedly severely assaulted after two men who witnessed him attempting to grab the handbag of a woman on Todd Street in Verulam on Saturday. Members of a local security company arrived on scene following the public reporting an assault in progress. Upon arrival, a man was found bleeding excessively from an open wound to his head.

The woman explained that the injured man was her husband of nine years and since their separation this year, he began harassing her. She was in possession of a protection order. When he saw her on Todd Street, approached her. An argument broke out between the two.

During the argument, he grabbed her handbag and attempted to flee when two occupants of a VW Polo stopped to assist the woman. The two men began assaulting her husband with their fists. During the altercation, he was also assaulted with a brick on his head. Medics treated the man on scene for his injury, however, he declined further medical attention. Both parties proceeded to the Verulam SAPS to register criminal cases against one another.

The stolen items recovered in the incident.

Multiple items recovered by vigilant members

Members of the sector 4 and sector 5 CPF and various security companies worked hand in hand to recover a number of stolen items. An active Sunford member noticed a group of men carrying a battery and a number of other items, walking along the Phoenix Highway. He followed them down to the railway tracks and then called for assistance. Within minutes, he received support from the sector 5 CPF, and a chase ensued. The suspects abandoned the items and fled the scene in different directions. Members from the sector 5 CPF blocked off Sledgrove as some of the suspects headed in that direction. A number of security forces and the SAPS responded and conducted a thorough search of the area, however, no arrests were made. The recovered items were booked in at Phoenix SAPS.

Her landlord, Dumisani Moses Nzimande has been left with her two-year-old child and is making an appeal to the public that anybody with any information on her whereabouts to contact the Phoenix SAPS or to contact him directly on 074-957-4000.

DLC slams the municipality for incorrect meter readings

Democratic Liberal Congress (DLC) leader Patrick Pillay denounced the unfair treatment of ratepayers when charges in their utility bills are incorrect and is not a true reflection of their water and electricity consumption costs. After two years of the implementation of the Revenue Management Systems, ratepayers and pensioners are still faced with the challenges of incorrect billing, more especially in the incorrect electricity and water meter readings.

When 74-year-old pensioner Ramkissoon Singh and his 69-year-old pensioner wife received their electricity account last month, they were left shocked at the huge bill. Singh said that he and his wife were traumatised and had no idea on how to deal with the issue. "When we went to the Municipal offices in Phoenix, we were told that we must pay our account," he said.

"Failing to get any positive responses from the Municipal offices, we approached the always helpful and considerate DLC offices for assistance. We are really grateful for the DLC's intervention and are pleased that something will now be done about our huge account," said Singh. DLC leader Patrick Pillay said that when the Singh's approached his office, they were really stressed and could not contain their emotions. "I was very worried about the state of their health and immediately my DLC activist and I attended to their emotional state of minds and calmed them down. Upon analysing the Singh's account, I picked up that there was an incorrect meter reading that was captured that resulted in their account escalating to over R200, 000. I made strong representations with Treasury to immediately investigate and make the necessary adjustments and reversals," said Pillay.

DLC leader Patrick Pillay and DLC activists are seen with pensioner Ramkissoon Singh and his wife because of a major inaccurate meter reading by Metro Water.

Church launches 'Light The World' initiative

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints recently launched a global Christmas initiative called 'Light the World.'

The Light the World campaign encourages people around the world to serve others during the holiday season. This initiative was officially launched three years ago and runs from the start to the end of December every year.

Russell M Nelson extends his invitation to everyone and quoted the late president, Nelson Mandela, "We should turn our focus from how can I serve to whom can I serve." With each week in December, there are themes that guide participants on how to serve.

In the first week of December, participants were encouraged to serve those in need around the world. Serving those in need included smiling at people, writing thank you notes, forgiving a debt, giving someone a hug, visiting a friend in hospital, phoning an old friend and helping someone change a flat tyre.

In the course of the second week, participants will focus on serving in their own communities through organising a food drive, donating blood, inviting someone who may be lonely over for dinner, cleaning up a local park, sharing talents, visiting an orphanage and reading to children.

Families are the theme for the third week of December. Participants are encouraged to show love and appreciation for their families by calling their parents, having a family prayer, spending one-on-one time with children, refraining from using unkind words, making new family memories and organising family gatherings.

The theme for the fourth and final week includes being an answer to someone's prayer, bearing your testimony, fasting for someone in need, counting your blessings, learning about your ancestors and reading the scriptures daily.

Participants of this initiative can share their experiences on social media using the hashtag #LightTheWorld.

Do not carry large sums of cash, warn police

As the festive season approaches, much emphasis is being placed on safety and vigilance. Following various incidents throughout the year, police are once again warning members of the public to not carry large sums of money during the holidays. They urge residents to rather consider other options including carrying as little cash as possible and making use of cellphone banking and internet banking. Police spokesman, Col Thulani Zwane, said, "We are concerned after recent incidents where people are robbed of their cash or even injured in the process. This guidance has been issued to prevent such incidents in future." He provided the following tips that will help minimise the chances of becoming a victim of robberies:

- Alternate the days and times on which you deposit cash
- Refrain from making cash deposits
- Never make your bank visits public, even to people close to you
- Do not openly display the money you are depositing while you are standing in the bank queue. Avoid carrying money bags, briefcases or openly displaying your deposit receipt book

- It's advisable to identify another branch nearby that you can visit to ensure that your banking pattern is not easily recognisable or detected
- If the amount of cash you are regularly depositing is increasing as your business grows, consider using the services of a cash management company
- Refrain from giving wages to your contract or casual labourers in full view of the public rather make use of wage accounts that can be provided by your bank
- Refrain from driving to the bank in your company branded vehicle on a typical 'pay day'
- Consider arranging for electronic transfers of wages to your contract or casual labourers' personal bank accounts

Police are also warning all stokvel members to take extra precautions when dealing with large amounts of cash as these types of cases are very prevalent during the festive season when members are sharing money. "Stokvels are advised to arrange with their banks to deposit cash into their accounts. Citizens are cautioned not to withdraw large amounts of cash or transport large sums for deposits as often criminals have been tipped off and follow people to and from banks with them intention to rob them," he added.

Lenarea Secondary teacher scoops top award

Former Ambassador of Education to USA, Chan Babulall, serves at Lenarea Secondary School in Phoenix. Babulall was commended by the MEC of KZN Education, National Department of Education officials and the South African Council of Education, at the Royal Show Grounds where he was conferred an award for Excellence in High School teaching. Babulall boasts a track record of 100 percent passes in his Matric results since joining the teaching force with multiple distinctions. He is so passionate about his teaching that he finds it hard to turn away pupils. Babulall recently taught a single matric class unit of 67 pupils and scooped meritorious results. Currently, he serves as Board of Management at the Phoenix Child Welfare. He was also appointed to head of the Phoenix Youth Foundation. He believes in holistic education and the development of talent in youth. "Communities are becoming dysfunctional. Youth need to strive to champion a healthy environment around them. It is not where you come from, but where you end up. Designing life means designing personal success," he said.

Chan Babulall, a teacher at Lenarea Secondary School, with his award for excellence in high school teaching.

Pupils in both senior, primary and high schools can look forward to exploring their potential by joining the Phoenix Youth Foundation. Applications will be available at schools. The 2019 calendar will run literacy programmes via drama, music, art and debate festivals, to identify rising stars. The foundation will provide support for coaching drum majorettes at schools. The Phoenix Debating League is already empowering primary, senior and high school pupils with debate coaching and speaking skills. Babulall said that the Phoenix Debating League has done us proud in 2018 after they won at Wits University and represented us at Croatia and Prague this year. "I am a decisive element in the classroom. It is my personal approach that creates the climate. My daily mood that makes the weather. As a teacher, I possess the tremendous power to make a child's future. I am the instrument of inspiration. I can humiliate, hurt, humour or heal. But I choose everyday to touch one soul at a time to guide you to design your life," Babulall said.

Omedia citizens unwind at social gathering

Omedia Senior Citizens held a fun day at Blue Lagoon, last week. The seniors enjoyed a delicious meal sponsored by Riaz A Naidoo and Suren Singh. The day included fun and games with various events and activities. Chairman of the club, Steve Naidoo, would like to wish all the seniors a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

MF distributes sanitary pads to schools

The Minority Front recently undertook a massive Sanitary Pad distribution drive throughout the province. The project which was the brainchild of MF leader, Mrs Shameen-Thakur Rajbansi was sparked by a discussion with officials of the United Nations Organisation. Speaking of the project, Mrs ST Rajbansi, said that she had petitioned parliament to conduct a distribution to schools to prevent absenteeism among girls during their menstrual cycle as well as to provide dignity to the girl child. "The distribution which was done by the Department of Education was fraught with scandal and controversy. The party then decided to do its own distribution to schools which did not receive and to schools that no longer had any supplies. This year-end initiative is aimed at supplying girls during the December/ January vacation." Cllr Jonathan Annipen, who was responsible for the distribution co-ordination, said that the project was widely appreciated by schools and pupils alike. "This is a sensitive matter that many people don't want to converse about. However, it is a topic that we cannot afford to avoid. It compromises the hygiene, health dignity and in many regards the education of the girl child. The MF has been forward thinking in this regard and believes that we can curb many of this challenges by meaningful ways," he added.

Seen is MF Phoenix office manager, Sumanth Jobraj, MF volunteer, Mrs Theresa Moodley, principal of Lenham Primary School, Mr Haripersadh and Cllr Jonathan Annipen.

Mid back pain

Thoracic (mid back) pain is not as common as neck or low back pain, however when it does occur it can be highly uncomfortable. Mid back pain occurs anywhere between the base of the neck to the end of the ribcage. It will often be felt around the shoulder blade or between the shoulder blade and the spine. Common causes include: Poor posture which occurs often in desk workers, overuse of a muscle/muscle strain and wear and tear of the cartilage (osteoarthritis/spondylosis) that cushion the joints. Common symptoms felt by patients are burning, aching or a sharp pain. It may also present as muscle stiffness or tightness. Mid back pain can be easily treated by manual therapy and spinal manipulation. For more information or an appointment contact: Dr D. Govender- 031 828 5007 Address: Hi Tech Medical Centre, 2 Stanmore Drive, Phoenix.

It's fun park in the Sun Park this holiday

Sibaya ups the fun factor for young visitors to the resort during the holidays. Buoyed by the overwhelming response, Fun Park is back from December 14 to 24. The multi-purpose Sun Park at Sibaya will once again be transformed into a vibrant playground of giant sized inflatable slides, castles, and obstacles. Children under 12-years-old can go wild bouncing, climbing and clambering from 10am until 6pm daily. Rides, slides and experiences at Fun Park in the Sun Park this December include a Mechanical Bull; a six metre high Giant Slide; a four seat Space Rocket; Disco Dome; Zorb Balls, a range of jumping castles, a Barbie House and an Elephant Ball Pond. In addition, there will be children's entertainment such as face painters; jugglers; mascots; balloon sculptors and more.

There is no limit to the amount of jumping and bouncing they do on the giant sized, colourful inflatables at the Fun Park in the Sun Park. There will be food and refreshments on sale. For the adults there is a Beer Garden, open from 10am to 6pm, on Saturday and Sunday. No under 18's will be permitted entry.

Suspect nabbed after stealing a vehicle

A Ford Rustler vehicle was stolen in Mount Edgcombe Plaza, last Saturday. A suspect was allegedly seen breaking into a Ford Rustler by a security service provider for the Mount Edgcombe Plaza through the CCTV cameras. The suspect then fled the plaza in the stolen vehicle. The security officer notified officers of a local security company and conducted an extensive search for the suspect.

The suspect was chased on the Phoenix Highway R102 and later apprehended by officers of a security company and handed over to Phoenix SAPS. The vehicle was then handed over to the rightful owner. Jerome Chetty, director of the Syndicate Protection Services, urges members of the public to make sure that their vehicles are locked. "The public should make sure that their vehicles are locked before walking into shops. Whenever a remote to activate the locking and alarm system of a vehicle is pressed, a suspect standing at a close by distance pushes a similar remote at the same time, which results in the blocking of the signal of the locking remote.

Residents should walk back to their cars to ensure that their cars are locked, even if they had already pressed the remote," Chetty said.

Mazda Design boss says new BT-50 will be 'tougher'

The Design Head of Mazda has announced that the next generation BT-50 will have a tougher appearance than the current model, but acknowledged that it will be a challenge keeping it in-line with the brand's current styling direction. Reiterating comments made at the Tokyo Motor Show last year, Ikuo Maeda told Australia's drive.com.au at the Los Angeles Auto Show that the automaker had "learnt a lesson" from trying to apply its previous styling language to the BT-50, saying that the next generation, which will swap the current Ford Ranger T6 platform for that of the next Isuzu D-Max, will be more "butch" in spite of the inherent difficulty it once again faces looks-wise. "I think our image is that we should be able to cover [this new Kodo design language] from SUV to passenger cars, but [with the] pick-up truck the rear tray has to be very flat so trying to deploy this [in the same way] is going to be very, very difficult. It is also going to be very difficult to showcase this light texture because of the sheer size of the vehicle. And also with a pick-up truck you want to have an appearance that has more strength, is butch and masculine. That's what I hope [for]," Maeda said. While expressing confidence that the Kodo design language could possibly add more masculinity to the BT-50 if applied correctly, Maeda however said that the biggest concern is whether the interior fit-and-finish will match that of other models, such as the new 3, in keeping with the brand's premium push. "Design quality we will take care of, but fit and finish I am not quite sure. The commercial vehicle has a significant importance within our lineup, so we will definitely be looking to improve that. I presume interior will be pretty difficult as the cost does not allow us to do anything... probably," he said. Along with its new platform, the BT-50 will also drop the Ranger's current assortment of engines for Isuzu sourced units when it reportedly debuts in 2020, a year after the all-new D-Max.

BMW boss defends AWD, turbo M-cars as more M3 details emerge

BMW's Head of Development has continued lashing out at criticism over the use of turbocharging and all-wheel drive in its M models, describing the remarks as "not appreciated".

In a follow-up interview with US publication Road and Track, Klaus Fröhlich said the use of normally aspirated motors in previous M3 models impacted on the steering due to the extra weight over the front axle, making them

"awful".

"People told me M cars can't be turbo. They have always been high-revving naturally-aspirated engines. Honestly, this high-revving engine was a V10, or a V8 in the 3-series, and it was so many pounds on the front axle, the steering was awful. It's not the boring turbocharged engine, it's revving, revving, revving" Fröhlich said.

Taking a swipe at disapproval after the introduc-wheel drive. I always really appreciated what Porsche did on the 911. They have whatever new derivative every month. I think we missed some opportunity not doing the same on M4. So I'm interested that, on M3, M4, we do more. This car will be rear-wheel drive, but we will have an all-wheel drive derivative too".

In a subsequent related report, Britain's Autocar, citing alleged BMW officials including CEO

Harald Krüger at the recent Paris Motor Show, confirmed that the next M3 will indeed not be rear-wheel driven, but have the option of a six-speed manual gearbox.

According to the publication, the decision not to include all-wheel drive or electrification like Mercedes-AMG's 53-line of models, came as a result of weight with the end goal of making the newcomer lighter than the now discontinued M3 CS that tipped the scales at 1 586kg.

The article also alleges that the G20 M3 will continue with the current 3.0-litre turbocharged straight-six engine, but with heavy revisions and indeed water-injection to lift power from 317kW to 347kW, 15kW more than the F80 M3 Competition Package (CP). Gone however is the seven-speed M DCT 'box in favour of an eight-speed Steptronic, while the CP will likely use the new S58 motor from the forthcoming X3 and X4 M that will generate a reported 368kW.

With speculation building that the M3 could possibly make its world debut in Geneva next year, the M4 is only slated to arrive in 2020, a year after the standard 4-series make its alleged premiere.

tion of the all-wheel drive M5, Fröhlich, who two months said he did "not want to hear sh*t anymore" after negative media reports following the unveiling of the new G20 3-series, said the addition of all-wheel drive has in effect curbed understeer and contributed to making the amount of power available more useable.

"I hate understeering all-wheel drive cars. Most cars, if you push them hard, or if you're not such an experienced driver and you tear at the steering wheel, you get understeer. The fun is gone. So I told [former M boss] Frank Van Meel, whenever I drive the car, it should never, never understeer," he said.

"If you have more than 600 horsepower, a rear-wheel drive car loses nearly one second in 0-60mph (96km/h). And by the way, the new M5 with all-wheel drive weighs less than the predecessor without it".

Asked about the next generation M3 and M4, Fröhlich, who previously confirmed that the latter would be the last to offer a manual gearbox, said both will become available with all-wheel drive at some stage, but added that the rear-wheel drive layout will indeed be kept.

"I think there is still a big market for pure rear-

Volkswagen Amarok's Dark side exposed

Already available in Australia and United Kingdom, Volkswagen South Africa has now officially confirmed local pricing and spec details for the special edition Amarok Dark Label.

First shown at the Frankfurt Motor Show last year, the Dark Label differentiates itself from lesser models by being finished in a model specific Indium Grey matte paint with grey Dark Label stripes, along with matte black door handles, mirrors, a locally sourced Maxe sports bar and door sills, tinted rear windows, matte black grille, smoked taillight clusters and bespoke 18-inch Rawson alloy wheels.

Inside, the changes are less dramatic and include a black head-liner, Vienna leather seats, chrome air vents and Dark Label embroidered floor mats. Standard equipment remains intact too, consisting of the Composition Media infotainment system, bi-xenon headlights with daytime running LEDs, a multi-function steering wheel, tyre pressure monitor, front and rear parking sensors and Automatic Post-Collision Braking. Optionally, the Dark Label can be outfitted with the Discover Media infotainment system that adds satellite navigation, climatic air-conditioning, heated front seats and a reverse camera.

Unlike its Down Under and UK siblings though, South African-spec Dark Labels will eschew the 3.0 TDI V6 engine for the 2.0 BiTDI motor that produces 132kW/420Nm, mated to the eight-speed Tiptronic gearbox and permanent 4Motion all-wheel drive. As with the standard 132kW Amarok, the Dark Label's performance figures are unchanged with a top speed of 179km/h and 0-100km/h in 11.3 seconds. Combined fuel consumption is a claimed 8.5-litres/100km.

Slotting-in between Highline and Highline Plus variants, the Dark Label carries a sticker price of R674 600 which includes a three year/100 000km warranty and a five year/90 000km service plan.

Free Christmas shopping for the less fortunate

It is true we are living in times of recession, it is true there is a world financial crisis, it is true the cost of home rates, water and electricity has risen. It is true food prices have risen drastically. Nevertheless, it is at this time of year when shopping malls all around us are abuzz with excitement. The business sector expects a boom in sales with people flocking to spend their holiday and bonus checks on gifts, clothing and food. Everyone is caught up in the spirit of Christmas. Sadly, in the midst of all this excitement there are many who are not able to share in the festive season. There are many in Phoenix and surrounding areas that will not be enjoying the comfort and warmth that fills the air during the festive season. There are those who do not have enough to provide a meal for their family. The Upper-Room Church extends a special invitation to all underprivileged and less fortunate to join them at 73 Viewhaven Drive, Woodview, Phoenix on Saturday, December 8. The church hall will be turned into a free Shopping Mall for the less fortunate and under privileged children. The aim of the church is to brighten the face of children. If you know of any family or person in need pass the message and help make their Christmas a special one. For further information, contact the church on 031 505-8222, the secretary, Teddy Govender on 073-315-6559, and Reverend Bryan Naidoo on 084-507-2384.

Panthers take on Christmas Challenge

With less than three weeks to Christmas, 28 members of Tongaat Panthers Athletic Club started their celebrations early when they participated in the Illovo Christmas Challenge in Westville on Sunday. This festive race was hosted by Westville Athletic Club and the tough undulating terrain didn't dampen the spirits of members. With a field of more than 2500 participants, most dressed in Christmas attire and accessories, this added to the fun and frolicking. Members and interested non members are reminded that the 2019 licence forms can be obtained from Bhugwans Exit in Tongaat. The first leg of the Thinnys League Challenge 2019 commences on January 6 at 6am. The executive committee wishes members and their families a safe and blessed festive season.

Northmead Secondary pupil Lauren Tia Munsami who is in grade 12 recently took part in the Commonwealth Karate Federation held at the Olive Convention Centre recently. The young karateka was placed third and brought honour to her school and the Phoenix area.

Phoenix Villagers take awards for their efforts

The ambiance at the Phoenix Villagers banquet night was electrifying. Excitement had been mounting for months on end which culminated in an overwhelmingly successful event hosted by Phoenix Villagers Athletic Club at the Earlington Hall recently as they honoured their athletes for their achievements for 2018. Beautifully designed trophies which encapsulated the prestigious nature of this event were presented in various categories using mileage as one of the criteria, the other being best times achieved. The Comrades finishers were awarded including those who did not complete the race but went past the 42km mark and came into the ultra marathon category. The Junior Sportsman of the Year was Wassim Ramathulla. Jabulani Nzimande scooped the Sportsman of the Year award whilst Davitha Jankhi was a woman of the year. Awardees in the special awards category were Neela Devasagayam, Ram and Haroon Yousuph. The chairman's award went to Rishigen Reddy who went beyond his call of duty throughout the year in ensuring the smooth running of the club. Running one Comrades Marathon is no easy task, but the club's super hero managed to complete 20. Receiving a standing ovation was double green winner Rajesh Booplal who was awarded for his iconic achievement. It was a "wow" moment when members entered the hall as the decor was stunning and in keeping with PVAC colours. The buffet menu was divine which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Management of PVAC congratulated all recipients of the awards and commended the Banquet Committee on a sterling job done. They also thanked all individuals, sponsors and well-wishers who assisted in making the day a success. Congratulations also goes out to Kurisha Cassim for winning the big prize of the evening which was a weekend getaway for two adults at a resort on the KZN South Coast.
